AIC (VIC DIV) CONFERENCE 2018

Our world is currently changing – it is no longer “when” but “now”. Digital Disruption is a fact and our industry is seeing the effects of this daily, perhaps more than most. By 26 May 2018, we will be truly immersed in all these changes and it will be time to come together to access and improve the status of our Brave New World and our roles in it.

As we continue to implement e-conveyancing, our landscape is evolving. We no longer talk in terms of cheques, but instead we discuss electronic transfers or even perhaps, blockchain and bitcoin. Land Registries are being privatised, paperless property sales are making their mark and ARNECC is now an everyday term. These changes bring greater risks and security challenges, which need to be addressed.

The tools and equipment you will need to survive in this new world will also be on display in our partner expo. On the day you will once again have plenty of opportunity to meet with our partners and learn how they can enhance your new landscape!

We have the resourcefulness and we have the strength to conquer this new world, and the 2018 conference will highlight this to you. The future does belong to us, but first we must take charge of it.

GALA DINNER

A Brave New World cannot be created without those intrepid adventurers who lead the way in discovering new frontiers. The accomplishments of these adventurers will be recognised in the 2018* awards. Once again, we will come together to recognise the Regional and Metropolitan Employees of the Year and the Regional and Metropolitan Conveyancing Firms of the Year.

Australian Comic of the Year, Marty Wilson will be the MC for this year's dinner. He has spent his entire professional life studying resilience, partly because he was a full-time Stand Up Comic for 8 years in the UK (and nobody knows how to bounce back from adversity like an Aussie Comic performing to the Brits!), but also because he is a relentless entrepreneur who has leapt from one successful career to another – he's a Pharmacist turned Award-Winning Advertising Copywriter turned Stand Up Comic turned Bestselling Author and Speaker.

He has spoken to over 500,000 people since he first leapt up on stage in 1997. In his first 12 months Marty won Australian Comic of the Year, appeared on the Footy Show, and was invited to the UK to become a full time Stand Up. He returned home 2008 and now helps people and businesses use humour and levity to lead behaviour change in the areas of health and innovation.

Marty has done over 1,000 interviews with inspirational and successful people for his 11 and counting books in his bestselling What I Wish I Knew series. From footy coach Wayne Bennett to a Buddhist Nun who works with prisoners on death row in L.A., from Comic Anh Do to a mother of eleven children, from a 911 survivor to chef Maggie Beer. This makes him incredibly human and instantly relatable to a wide variety of audiences.

The night will culminate in a dance party when the legendary Sam Ludeman takes to the stage with his band. With his powerhouse party band Sam is sure to bring the dance floor to life as he rocks the night out.
